C'MON BLUES

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

THE MAYOR of Southend has called on football fans to get behind their team by snapping up 30,000 Wembley tickets.

Southend United will take on Crewe Alexandra on Sunday, April 7 in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy Final.

Councillor Sally Carr said she was tremendously proud of the town team and wanted to give them the best chance possible of success with overwhelming support on the day.

She said: "This is our chance to show the players as well as the rest of the country what our club means to us and just how enthusiastic Blues supporters are.

"More than 20,000 tickets have already been sold, and the club aims to reach a terrific target of 30,000 to turn the event into a big Southend street party.

"Southend people are experts at rallying round when they are needed and sharing in momentous occasions. Just think of the huge crowds that turned out for the Olympic Torch Relay last year.

"Now is the time for those who have not yet got their tickets for the big match to hurry up and do so."

Southend United chief executive, Steve Kavanagh, said Wembley would be a great day out for the fans.

He said: "I want them to be part of getting 30,000 Blues to Wembley.

"We saw in the summer with the London Olympics that sport can bind a nation like nothing else – well this is our opportunity to do it on a local scale and create a feel good factor around the town of Southend."

Fans are reminded of the hashtag on Twitter of #paintwembleyblue to help create a real buzz about the big day.

MAYOR SUPPORT: Councillor Sally Carr who is supporting Southend United before they go to Wembley to play Crewe Alexandra

The facts: Johnstone's Paint Trophy

The Johnstone's Paint Trophy was created in September 2006.

The tournament features all 48 clubs from League One and League Two and is split into northern and southern regions.

The first of many memories was created in front of 59,024 supporters at Cardiff's Millennium Stadium, with Doncaster Rovers beating Bristol Rovers 3-2 in extra time.

The final match is usually played on March 28. However, it has changed this year to Sunday, April 7.

The trophy has also broken record amounts for crowd attendance.

In 2010 Southampton shattered records on the field by claiming a 4-1 victory over Carlisle United in front of 73,476 fans.

It was the highest attendance for a trophy final and the second biggest in the entire history of the Football League Trophy.

Blues made the final for two consecutive years when it was known as the LDV Vans Trophy.

In 2004, they lost 2-0 to Blackpool in Cardiff and by the same scoreline to Wrexham the following year.

This will be Southend's first ever appearance at Wembley for a final.

Volunteers needed to protect rare birds

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

ESSEX Wildlife Trust is looking for volunteers to help protect a habitat where Avocet birds live and breed.

The call comes after the birds have successfully hatched offspring on Two Tree Island.

However, in the past the birds have faced trouble with eggs being stolen from the Island in 2004 and 2005.

Now in its eighth year the 'Egg Watch' scheme has seen hundreds of people volunteering to protect the species.

Although the birds are increasing on the Island, last year saw chicks killed by a dog as they nested on the ground.

In 2011 a man was also jailed for six months for taking 12 eggs from the island.

Listed on Schedule 1 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981, it is an offence to take, injure or kill an Avocet or take, damage or destroy its nest, eggs or young. It is also an offence to intentionally or recklessly disturb the birds at or close to their nest during the breeding season.

Violation of the law can mean fines of up to £5,000 per offence, or a prison sentence of up to six months.

Louise Morris, Southend environmental projects manager, working in partnership with Essex Wildlife Trust and Southend Council, asked people to volunteer for a few hours a week.

She said: "This amazing project is a real community effort between a whole range of partners."

"Most of our volunteers come from Southend and Essex, but some have travelled as far as from County Durham.

"It's a great reason to visit this superb nature reserve, as well as potentially very rewarding bird watching, and of vital importance to our wonderful Avocets."

If you would like to volunteer call Louise Morris on 01702 215602.

Council outline culture proposals

SOUTHEND Council has announced its plans for culture for the next ten years in a report called Culture-on-Sea.

In the proposal the authority sets out cultural objectives, including aims to host the Turner Prize exhibition in Southend when the £27 million Forum opens in September, and to host a major cultural conference.

With the removal of the Airshow this year some of the money saved will be spent on events that will increase tourism in the town.

Another objective the authority has set itself is to run a two week cultural festival that will attract visitors from overseas.

A focus has also been put on trying to attract visitors staying in town overnight as well as during the day.

A £70,000 fund has been set aside for proposed events.

In the proposals the council states that any events that happen should have a strong emphasis on supporting tourism outside of its traditional peak.

Part of the ten year plan is to open the new museum on the seafront and to try and increase Southend's presence at the Edinburgh Festival.

The town is also aiming at trying to become one of the top ten places to visit for a cultural experience in a national publication.

Councillor for culture and tourism, Derek Jarvis, said the issues in the Culture-on-Sea report were something the council wanted to achieve in the next decade.

Cllr Jarvis said: "These are the aspirations we want to bring to the town.

"We are lucky enough to have Andrew Hunt who was a Turner prize judge so it may be the case we could host the exhibition event before the winner is announced.

"It covers a long period of time there are lots of things we want to achieve.

"We want to achieve the City of Culture by 2017 and get the Turner prize exhibition here before 2023."

Energy savings begin at home

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

RESIDENTS found out about a green project that will reduce carbon emissions and energy costs in the home last Friday.

The 45 homes in Peartree Close, Lornes Close, Pantile Avenue and Cokefield Avenue will be fitted out with energy saving technology, in the project called ReallySmartHouse.

One of the new installments will be panels fitted to the ceilings that absorb heat during the day and releases heat as the room cools at night.

They will also be fitted out with solar panels in an attempt to reduce energy costs.

Southend councillor for adult social care, health and housing Lesley Salter said: "It is not only going to help residents now and in the future, but is also leading the field and inspiring others."

Dennis Kerner, who is the resident co-ordinator, for Peartree Close, said there was a lot to gain from the project.

He said: "Not only will this project help to reduce Southend's carbon footprint but we residents are set to see our energy bills drop considerably, which is a brilliant thing."

The ReallySmartHouse project is a £1.2 million match-funded project with money allocated from the East of England Regional Development Fund.

It aims to reduce carbon emissions and energy costs for Southend residents while also increasing the life span of houses.

Hospital's Feeding Buddies celebrate fifth anniversary

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

FEEDING Buddies celebrated their fifth anniversary last week at Southend Hospital.

The hospital now has more than 90 specially trained volunteers who help encourage frail and elderly patients to eat and drink at meal times.

Chairman of the hospital, Alan Tobias, who cut the birthday cake, said more hands were still needed on wards to help people eat when they were unwell.

He said: "The care Feeding Buddies give to patients and the help to our staff is inspirational. "We cannot thank you enough."

Fiona Mowatt, Estuary ward manager, was just one of several senior nurses who made speeches praising the Buddies' contribution. "

She said: "We are an extremely busy ward and you do an absolutely fantastic and marvelous job."

The hospital is believed to have been the first Trust in the country to introduce such an initiative and has had enquiries from many other healthcare organisations interested in running a similar service.

If you would like to volunteer to become a Feeding Buddy call 01702 435555 ext 6135 or e-mail feedingbuddies@southend.nhs.uk

Airshow campaigner looks to next year to bring back event

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

A MAN who tried to save this year's Southend Airshow is trying to resurrect it in time for next year.

Tom Curtis, from Honiton Road, in Southend, set up the Save Southend Airshow page on Facebook in January after the council announced it was thinking of axing the air festival.

The group now has more than 15,000 supporters and Mr Curtis, 29, wants to try and raise money to get the Airshow back in town next year.

Mr Curtis, who runs his own marketing company, explained he met with councillors on Monday, March 18, and they had agreed if he could raise the money they would help him put on the Airshow.

He said: "The council may have voted against it to save a £130,000 short fall, but they have been helping me with trying to arrange things."

"On Monday night they said if I can make up the shortfall they will help me put it on."

"I've always loved the Airshow and try to get to see it as much as possible."

It's great for the town and brings people here.

"I am already in discussions with some local businesses and that is going well for getting some sponsorship."

Councillor for culture and tourism,

AIRSHOW: Tom Curtis and John Delaney who are trying to bring back the airshow next year

Picture by Mark Cleveland

Derek Jarvis, said the meeting had gone well between the two groups.

He said: "We have said to Mr Curtis if he can raise the money for the Airshow then we would help him with the organisation of it.

"The council will not be putting any money towards it though, in reality the Airshow costs more than the £130,000 stated in the budget."

"The Airshow was someone else's idea 27 years ago, it has been run in the past with sponsorship but the council are just not in a position to do it financially."

Is your PAIN normal?

JON HANDLEY-COLLINS, DOCTOR OF CHIROPRACTIC DISCUSSES:

Pain

Pain is something we all experience at some point, be that stubbing your toe or living with a painful condition every day. One thing is for sure, none of us (apart from masochists) like pain!

However, many of us today are living with muscle and joint pains. Some are putting up with pain because they think it's "normal" for them. Some have been told that it's arthritis and just to live with it, others have accepted their pain as just a part of getting older. Be aware, pain is not normal!

What you should remember is that pain is the body's way of telling you that something is wrong, a warning signal. It's not necessarily something you have to live with. People tend to live with back pain or neck pain for example, but most of us wouldn't live with toothache for very long before going to the dentist would we?

If you ask yourself "what is causing my pain?" then you can start to ask "can the cause of my pain be helped?". Painkillers can be used to help the symptoms, but they will only ever control the symptoms, not the cause of your pain.

Sometimes painful joints and muscles are caused by a reduction of function in that area that can be helped with Chiropractic care. As a Chiropractor, many people come to me in pain. To find out whether Chiropractic can help, the symptoms are first narrowed down to find out what's causing them.

This involves a thorough case history, an orthopaedic examination to find out where the symptoms are coming from, a neurological examination to find out if and how the nerves are affected and a Chiropractic examination to find out how your spine is functioning. If deemed necessary by the Chiropractor, an X-Ray of the affected area will be taken.

Then there is a return visit to explain our findings, to tell you what has been found and what needs to be done to sort it out, be that Chiropractic care or referral to your GP for a specialist investigation.

At the Optimum Spine Centre, (based at 1212 London Road, Leigh on Sea) we are conducting these initial consultations and report of findings for just £10* (usually £55). Give the Centre a call today on 01702 710084. *Offer does not include X-rays

Join Great Gran on the Great Pier Walk

GREAT Grandmother Connie Bush is asking people to take part in the Great Pier Walk on Sunday.

She may be 86 but Connie has taken part in the walk for the past 11 years.

Connie does it as she was treated for breast cancer at Southend Hospital three decades ago.

Although she is suffering from bronchitis Connie has appealed for people to go and raise money for the hospital.

Connie, from Thundersley, said she believed the staff at the hospital done a fantastic job and they should be supported.

She said: "It is such a wonderful thing to do, to raise money for such a good cause."

"I've always believed in keeping active, and this is a good way of getting out to get some fresh air and helping the charity."

The walk takes place on Sunday from between 10am-4pm.

For more details contact the fund raising department on 01702 385337.

MONEY: Manager Geraldene Brown and Jacqui Spendiff

Hospice celebrates its birthday millions

A HAVENS Hospice charity shop celebrating its 20th birthday has raised more than £3 million.

Since opening its doors in 1993 the shop in Southchurch Road, Southend, has steadily raised money for the Hospices.

The shop would not still be running without its team of more than 40 volunteers who range in age from 16 to 93 years old.

One of the eldest and longest serving volunteers is Peggy Matthews, 92, from Southchurch, who has been volunteering at the shop every Friday for the last 17 years.

Peggy said when the shop first opened there were no computers and they were running using an old fashioned till.

She said: "To me, not much has changed though, the team has always been lovely and I still look forward to every shift."

"My favourite part is getting to know people in the local community, just the other week a lady who came in with her child recognised me and told me she remembered me from when she used to shop here with her mum."

Geraldine Brown has been shop manager at the shop for the last 15 years and is known for her creative window displays all made from the community's donations.

To celebrate the shop's 20th anniversary, the team created 20 birthday parcels and bunting scribed with the amount raised every year since it opened.

Free health checks for your pooches

DOG owners across Castle Point are invited to get their pooches a free health check next month.

The Canvey Town Council in partnership with Castle Point Council have arranged for the PDSA PetCheck vehicle to visit the borough as part of a campaign to promote responsible dog ownership.

Councillor Peter Greig, chairman of Canvey Town Council, said: "We are urging residents to take the opportunity to have their dog checked completely free of charge and help support the PDSA."

The PetCheck programme was launched in 2002 in response to rising concerns about the growing levels of obesity and dental disease in pets. The charities specially designed vehicles travel all over the country providing free health checks to dogs and offering information and advice to owners.

Dog owners will be able to take their pets along between 9am and 4pm at one of four events taking place in the Castle Point area at the following dates and venues: -

■ Tuesday, April 9
Sainsbury's car park, in Foksville Road, Canvey.

■ Wednesday, April 10

The Woodside open space car park, in Manor Road, Benfleet.

■ Thursday, April 11
South Benfleet playing fields, Pavillion car park, in Brook Road, Benfleet.

■ Friday, April 12
Denham Road car park by the lake at Canvey

For more information about the events call 01268 683965 or e-mail clerk@canvey-island-tc.gov.uk

Bypass plan not dead yet

THE leader of Southend Council has refused to rule out plans to build a new by-pass in Rochford.

Conservative councillor Nigel Holdcroft, said that a new by-pass could be built if the money could be found to finance the scheme and if local councils in the area support proposals for a new road.

He said: "The road could not be contemplated without the agreement of all relevant local authorities and the likelihood of attracting the necessary finance in the current climate is highly unlikely."

"Clearly transport infrastructure is very important to Southend, Castle Point and Rochford if we are going to ensure we remain accessible for residents, visitors and businesses as there remains a real risk, which is shared by many coastal communities, that this will be a major block to regeneration."

Mr Holdcroft's comments come after the South East Essex Friends of the Earth raised concerns that plans to build a by-pass in Rochford, which were abandoned in 2001, could be resurrected.

The group fear the Southend Tories will attempt to use the latest version of the Southend Airport & Environs Joint Area Action Plan (JAAP) to drive through a new outer by-pass through Rochford.

Friends of the Earth spokesman, Jon Fuller, said: "We are vigorously opposed to a new bypass and hope people will remember that the original scheme in the late 1990s blighted property for years.

Mr Fuller was a leading member of a pressure group, which overturned the proposals in 2001 after convincing politicians a new road could lead to development of 30,000 new houses.

He added: "The government has never agreed to any new road scheme without some sort of link to a huge increase in housing allocation. It seems that we've got to fight the same old fight again."

Vic Leach, chairman of Hawkwell Parish Council, said that the JAAP had a 'lack of vision'.

He said: "I believe that Southend Council has missed a real opportunity to make much needed improvements in the local area. It's disappointing that the JAAP does not include any proposals for a Park & Ride scheme like the very successful one in Chelmsford.

"Councillors in Southend need to be more creative rather than tinkering with roundabouts and traffic displays they need to find more imaginative ways to address traffic problems."

The JAAP is currently going through a public consultation for residents in Rochford and Southend until Wednesday, April 10. If you would like to comment, please visit www.southend.gov.uk/jaap or log onto www.rochford.gov.uk/planning or for a hard copy of the JAAP call 01702 215000.

Police hunt football train abuse louts

A GROUP of football louts who shouted abuse to train passengers pushed a pregnant lady as she tried to get off the train.

The gang of seven football supporters were on a train heading towards Southend Victoria train station, from Liverpool Street, on Tuesday, March 12, at around 6.20pm ahead of the Southend United v AFC Wimbledon game.

As the train left Stratford station the group became disruptive, shouting loud and abusive chants to other passengers on board.

Sergeant Rocky Jassel, based at Southend's British Transport Police (BTP) office, explained the group then turned their rants towards a pregnant lady who tried to leave the train at Billericay station.

Sgt Jassel said: "As she squeezed past the group, one of the men pushed her in the back. Although she was not injured, the ordeal left her and many other passengers on board extremely uncomfortable."

"This must have been a very frightening experience for those on board the train simply trying to make their way home from work."

"This kind of behaviour is very rare on the rail network, and, when it does occur, officers carry out an extensive investigation in order to bring those who think they can act in such an anti-social manner to justice."

Officers are continuing their enquiries by looking at CCTV footage from trains and stations.

The men are described as all white, aged between 15 and 19-years-old.

One of the men officers are keen to speak to was described as of heavy build with strawberry blonde hair.

Anyone with information is asked to contact British Transport Police on 0800 40 50 40.

Hospice nurse to take on marathon

By Paul Peterson

castlepoint@yellowad.co.uk

A HOSPICE nurse will be one of thousands of people taking part in this year's London Marathon.

Colette Wilks, who is one of the Fair Havens' Macmillan nurses, will be running the gruelling 26.2 miles around the capital on Sunday, April 21 after being inspired by the patients that she cares for.

The 45-year-old, from Rayleigh, said her role as a nurse had made her realise how valuable life is.

She said: "I decided to apply for the marathon following the death of two patients under our care who were 36 and 49. It makes you realise that you have to live for the moment. I really think that being a Macmillan nurse at Fair Havens for nearly five years now really has enhanced my life."

Colette, who is now lead Macmillan Nurse for Fair Havens' community hospice service, is making good progress with her training and is busy fundraising to meet her target of £1,500 sponsorship.

The marathon will be quite different to Colette's typical start to the day, which usually begins with a meeting to discuss new and existing patients in need of specialist care. This includes reviewing their notes, liaising with their GP and other healthcare professionals and service referrals if required.

RUNNING: Macmillan Nurse Colette Wilks with colleague Fair Havens Nurse Sandra Steaden

Colette added: "Every day is different. Patients under our care have complex needs. Pain, anxiety, shortness of breath, nausea and vomiting are common symptoms. Often people's emotions can have a real impact on their physical health so we treat our patients holistically."

"When you work for Macmillan you feel you can really give something to somebody in your care. It's a privilege helping someone to have quality of life and being there to support their family too."

To sponsor Colette please visit her Just Giving page www.justgiving.com/Colly-Wilks and if you would like to keep up to date with her training log onto www.collyrunner.blogspot.co.uk

Opinion and readers' letters

Gum tax would solve problem

WITH the government promoting a policy of austerity leading to cuts affecting most of us, the government should welcome proposals that will achieve this.

I have written to Eric Pickles, Minister for Communities and Local Government and proposed that given the vast cost of clearing litter, and specifically chewing gum, he should impose a tax on the chewing gum manufacturers to finance the cost of cleansing which we pay for whether we chew or not. This would enable local councils to reduce the amount we pay as council tax.

In the UK, local councils spend in excess of £150million a year removing discarded gum, by using freezing machines, high pressure hoses and corrosive chemicals. This annual and reoccurring expense to the ratepayer could be saved, if present chewing gum was replaced by the environmentally friendly new gum.

Chewing gum that is water soluble, that dissolves from pavements in 24 hours, is available as 'clean gum', made of polymer and has been available since 2009. Also available is 'Revolver' approved by the US safety authority.

These have the same texture as its stickier counterpart. Chewing gum currently manufactured is made from synthetic latex and as we all know is resistant to the weather and is strongly adhesive.

Baroness Hahnam, under secretary of state, replied for Eric Pickles and was not enthusiastic to my proposal to 'litter tax' the chewing gum producers and stated that the chancellor keeps all taxes under review and it is important to consider the potential impact from imposing any additional costs on business. So it is ok for us to pay our rates to finance gum clearance, but we cannot penalise the chewing gum companies by taxing their profits.

Thanks for spreading the word

I SAY thank you to Charles Thomson and the Yellow Advertiser for featuring my book Fanny and Stella: The Young Men Who Shocked Victorian England and for listing my talk at Chelmsford Library on March 14th.

I know that at least one person for whom the subject of my book and talk was personally very important, only found out about it through the pages of your newspaper.

Please carry on with your good work of reaching the parts and the people of Essex and East London other newspapers cannot reach!

Human race has a lack of empathy

I AM unfortunately not surprised any more hearing these appalling stories about the most vulnerable being fined etc. (last week's YA)

Isn't it typical of companies to always pick on the most vulnerable? The human race has a total lack of empathy and common sense, now it seems to be a case of 'the computer says no' it's a vile uncaring world we live in, but if everyone would stand up and make themselves heard just because it's wrong then maybe they would have to listen.

New roads surfaces do not last long

I READ with interest the article, "Road is an 'accident waiting to happen'", about the poor state of Ashingdon Road.

I reported problems more than a year ago and the usual patching eventually happened but it doesn't last long due to the very heavy traffic and large steel lorries etc. that now use the road frequently.

The part between Dalys Road and West Street never got resurfaced when the rest of Ashingdon Road did last time and it's disgraceful. For the Essex County Council spokesman to say 'Our present priority is to focus our resources on keeping the highways moving' is a laugh when for nearly the past two weeks there have been terrible hold-ups at Rochford due to the resurfacing of a pavement which only sees light footfall anyway!

Lib Dems and Labour should unite

IT IS time the Labour and Liberal Democrat parties got together in the National interest.

Government spending cuts are not working and the need now is for more Treasury income by way of taxation.

The Thatcher era with its financial deregulations and abandonment of Exchange Control opened the floodgates of tax avoidance putting millions into the pockets of chief executives and top accounting firm executives.

After the neglect of hospitals and schools under Thatcher there was no alternative for New Labour but to look elsewhere for the necessary funding resulting in the substantial National indebtedness.

The finger should not be pointed alone to overseas companies such as Google, Amazon and Starbucks for they are homegrown multinationals who, with an absence of patriotism, prefer to play the system rather than see our self sacrificing armed forces, children's hospitals and schools properly provided for.

If conscience alone cannot convert the likes of Boots, the Philip Green empire, Diageo and numerous fanatically praised sports, music and media personalities to start acting in the national interest the Labour and Liberal Democrats must sort this matter out.

It is apparent that the Tories will not any more than they are prepared to deal with the press barons. Regarding overseas companies I am wondering how they would appreciate a turnover tax on their UK sales.

Relocating Longwood is not viable

DRY Street Pastures area is a valuable wildlife site containing rare and valuable wildlife and plants and as such should be protected at all costs for the use and recreation of the public.

The proposal is to redevelop the area for housing, the demolition of the Longwood Equestrian Centre to also allow new build housing which will in turn provide the council with the finances to relocate and build a new Basildon College nearer the town centre.

I have been following the developments of the above for some time and have listened to the arguments for and against the redevelopment the Dry Street area.

Longwood Equestrian centre has for many years in the past provided many, many hours of recreation as it has to countless other members of the public. Its establishment has played a very big part in providing this country with competitors to a very high international standard of equestrian competence in all disciplines of horsemanship. It has also provided educational recreation for many people of all walks of life including children with learning difficulties and disabilities.

Longwood's facilities and location are second to none in providing this. To many it is a home from home, a convenient local facility where they can pursue their hobby with their families and pets and a place where they can meet other like-minded people and learn from each other. To others it is a business and to some it is a source of employment not just within Longwood but from outside as well.

Because of Longwood's unique location, it has good road links to the A13, A127, A130, M25 and beyond. It provides a safe access for all ages to more than 20 miles of bridleways within the One Tree Hill Country Park and Langdon Hills and other country parks where horses can be properly exercised giving hours of enjoyment and pleasure. With links to the National Bridleways Network it provides people access to a facility that puts on regular horse shows throughout the year indoors and out in its purpose built show ground and lets people attend these shows without the cost of transport to get there.

All of these shows are also open to the public to watch free in their grounds weather indoors in their large seated arena and restaurant or outdoors.

Longwood's Equestrian Centre is in the perfect location to pursue equestrian activities. Over recent years equestrian facilities of this standard that were dotted around outer London and the home counties and locally have been slowly eroded by greedy developers that can only see development investment and wealth before taking into consideration all the facts and trying to use their weight and clout to bully ordinary people and councils into submission by offering ill-considered alternatives.

The proposed removal of Longwood to a site on Pitsea marshes / landfill tip before its re-establishment would be the death of Longwood and everything it stands for. The new facilities would have to be established months before a move by its residents (mainly the horses) could ever be considered.

How can planning permission for the proposed demolition of Longwood ever be granted before the plans for its replacement be granted? Any decisions made must be done with consultation with the public and concerned bodies but so far planning meetings are continually being cancelled. Only the council can answer why?

The public have a right to know what is going on but it is getting very hard to get anything useful from them even though GAG is trying their hardest.

The proposed relocation site is full of problems:

Logistically access to the area is very limited by an already overloaded railway bridge and level crossing. With the extra amount of traffic that would be generated by any redevelopment it would be at a detriment to the already established facilities. This is not an area where horse riders can safely ride given the amount of heavy fast traffic and the confines of the railway bridge and crossing that would seriously limit their scope to travel further afield. The proposed location would certainly not give horse riders access to the facilities they currently use such as One Tree Hill Country Park.

Travel in an easterly direction towards Canvey, Benfleet, Hadleigh and beyond is also out of the question for riders unless major road, rail and water obstructions are overcome.

The ground conditions in the area are unstable to say the least as far as erecting permanent buildings is concerned. The area is on a flood plain and nobody can get permission to build on it, well certainly not the public. The close proximity of the landfill tip also brings its own problems with toxic and obnoxious gas emissions ever present in the surrounding areas.

If this is such a great relocation area why doesn't the council protect the Dry Street Pasture area and sell / lease it out to Essex Wildlife Trust and The Longwood Centre Management long term and build the new homes around Wat Tyler Park, an area that is more widely frequented by general public and their families? The revenue would still be available to fund a new college then as well as keeping everyone happy.

We need continued support to protect our countryside and maintain the quality of life it brings to the public.

Here's hoping for a brighter better future

Third road plans back on the map

MAP: Rebecca Harris MP with Transport Minister Stephen Hammond MP at Waterside Farm roundabout

PLANS to build a third road off Canvey Island are being put back on the government agenda.

Conservative MP for Castle Point Rebecca Harris and Canvey county councillor, Ray Howard, have secured a meeting with transport minister Stephen Hammond to discuss the option of a third road.

They are seeking government backing for a scheme to create a road by extending Northwick Road.

Ms Harris said: "Previously Ray and I bought the minister here to see how badly a third road is needed. A third road is the number one issue for many people on Canvey and with the government's new focus on boosting local infrastructure, it could be a good time to be making the case."

Cllr Howard said: "Getting a third road off of our island is something that I have been campaigning for on behalf of residents for a long time. I believe now, with the imminent opening of the London Gateway super port, the proposed opening of a business park at the junction of Northwick Road and the new Roscommon Way, the economic case for a third road off Canvey has never been so strong.

"The great thing about extending Northwick Road is that it would provide a point of access and exit to the island that doesn't mean drivers have to go via Waterside Farm roundabout."

Mrs Harris agreed that a third road off Canvey could help boost the economy of the whole borough and would make a major difference to the day-to-day lives of many people living on the island.

Transport minister Stephen Hammond MP has agreed to meet with Mr Howard and Mrs Harris after receiving a letter from them setting out the economic case for a third road for Canvey.

Officers from Essex County Council and Castle Point Council are also expected to attend the talks.

'Message from above told me to climb this mountain'

By Charles Thomson

basildon@yellowad.co.uk

A BASILDON man is climbing up Mount Kilimanjaro because he believes God will give him a message when he reaches the summit.

Born-again Christian Colin Wilkinson, 58, is set to reach the summit on Easter Sunday. Colin said God told him to climb the mountain last summer, while he was watching religious television channel God TV.

The PE instructor said he experienced an epiphany as he watched a programme about others who were preparing to climb the mountain. He explained: "I felt God say to me, 'I want you to do it.' Then I got lots of prompts. I don't believe in coincidence. I believe in God-incidents. It was getting quite bizarre."

The ultimate sign came when Colin attended the Well Church in Angel Islington. He said: "The first hymn we sung had a mountain in it. Then the second had a mountain in it. Then the third one. 'I thought, 'Wow, this is getting too much'. I said to God, 'If you want me to do it, give me a sign and make the next song have a mountain in it'. The odds were pretty slim. 'Lo' and behold, the fourth song had a mountain in it."

Colin, who works at Lee Chapel Primary School and the Greenstead Infant School, has lost a stone in weight by training with a rucksack full of bibles strapped to his back.

He said: "I've worked really hard. I feel great. I feel really fit and healthy."

Colin, who lost his wife Tina to cancer 14 years ago, will carry his bible with him as he climbs the mountain. He will raise money for St Luke's Hospice in Basildon as he goes.

He said: "Tina never got to the hospice. She died in Basildon Hospital. But the hospice does wonderful work."

He insisted he would cover all of his own costs, even if they came to more than his fundraising total. He said: "I can understand why some people would say, 'You might as well just give the money to hospice'."

SIGN: Colin Wilkinson from Basildon is to climb Mount Kilimanjaro

Picture by Martin Dalton

"But the primary objective is, God wants me to climb up the mountain."

Colin will be filmed on his quest by the television station which first inspired him, God TV. The channel will broadcast live footage of Colin, alongside other climbers from America, Australia, Asia and Africa, on the eight day journey.

It is expected to take him six days to reach the summit and another two days to climb back down.

He said: "God has got a message for me when I get up there. I have a busy life, but I need to put aside some time for him to speak to me."

Enjoy eggcellent Easter events

LIZ WADE has a look at some of the activities being held this Easter

IF YOU, like me, cannot believe we are approaching the Easter school holidays already then there is still so much to do just planning the kids' itinerary for the next two weeks.

While the plan is to get Joseph to fill excess hours studying his GCSE revision books and encouraging Josh to put much more effort into any holiday homework project instead of his usual 'leave it to the last minute' philosophy, I am pretty sure there will be plenty of time left to fill.

As I am certain I am not the only one with this dilemma here are a range of activities taking place throughout the area during the Easter school holidays where you can keep the kids amused.

Marsh Farm, South Woodham Ferrers: Join in the hunt for the Easter Bunny and receive a chocolate treat from 10am to 5.30pm every day from March 29 to April 12.

Enjoy the brand new Animal Antics Show in the Barn Theatre, jump on the tractor and trailer ride and meet the animals. Usual entrance price applies.

Visit www.marshfarm.co.uk

Layer Marney Tower, near Colchester: There's fun for all the family at Layer Marney Tower during the Easter holidays including the chance to feed the spring lambs from noon to 5pm, from March 31 to April 14 (closed Fridays and Saturdays).

From 11am to 5pm, from March 31 to April 1, you can also join a toddler Easter egg hunt, an Easter trail and egg and spoon races, while on April 10 there will be a fun family guided Terrific Tudors Tour for children aged six to 10.

For further details and admission prices visit www.layermarneytower.co.uk

Lee Valley Park Farms, Waltham Abbey: There's fun for all the family at Lee Valley Park Farms over the Easter weekend including an Easter egg hunt, arts and crafts as well as the opportunity to meet all the newly born lambs, kids, piglets, chicks and ducklings, alongside the farm's other attractions including husky dogs, reindeer, pygmy goats, giant rabbits, rare breeds pigs, llamas and meerkats.

The Easter Bunny will also be visiting each day during the event which runs from 10am to 5pm, from March 29 to April 1.

Entrance to the farm is £8.50 for adults and £7 for children and concessions.

Visit www.visitaleeally.org.uk for more information.

Lakeside Shopping Centre, Thurrock: Take advantage of some free fun at Lakeside this Easter, from March 28 to April 1 (excluding Easter Sunday). Join Alice, the Mad Hatter and the Queen of Hearts, as well as Tinkerbell, Peter Pan and Captain Hook, and help the Little Lake Monsters save Wonderland. You can also take part in craft activities, and fun and games, from 10am to 5pm. Visit www.lakeside.uk

The EDF Energy London Eye: Edwin the Easter Bunny and his friends will take over the London Eye this Easter, from March 29 to April 1 between 11am and 4pm. Edwin will be their with his interactive Chocolate Factory and his band of mini-bunny workers will be making as many eggs as possible to give out to visitors.

For further information about the event, which also includes circus style performances, visit www.londoneye.com

Hever Castle, Kent: Head to Hever Castle for their annual Easter Egg Hunt and sounds from a traditional brass band from March 29 to April 1, or join their Step into Easter event from April 2 to 7.

The hunt is a great opportunity to explore the gardens and find the clues with the help of Henrietta the Hen and Bobby Bunny.

While the Step into Easter event gives young visitors the chance to make their own brass

ANIMALS: You can meet the new lambs at Lee Valley Park Farms this Easter rubblings at a drop-in workshop.

For further information and ticket prices visit www.hevercastle.co.uk

V&A Museum of Childhood, London: Enjoy bunny stories and games and the Museum of Childhood this Easter from March 29 to April 1.

Solve the clues to find out where the Easter Bunny has hidden his chocolate eggs, and make an Easter egg basket and other seasonal crafts during this free drop-in event that runs from 11am to 4pm each day.

For further information visit www.museumofchildhood.org.uk

Old MacDonald's Farm, Brentwood: Join an Easter Egg Hunt at the farm from March 29 to April 1, and meet all the spring babies from March 29 to April 14.

Old MacDonald's has lined up lots of activities throughout the Easter holidays including Kids Art Workshops such as an Easter Collage event on April 6 and Egg Decorating on April 7.

For further details and entrance information visit www.omdfarm.co.uk

The WWT London Wetland Centre: A fun range of Easter activities will be held at the centre from March 29 to April 14, including an egg hunt along a spring trail where you will discover the nesting and spawning secrets of wetland wildlife.

Get creative with their egg painting team and try to create a vehicle out of recycled materials during their Scrap Cheep Challenge.

For further information about the event, which also includes Easter games, visit www.wwt.org.uk

Barleylands Farm, Billericay: The farm will be putting on a range of special activities from March 29 to April 12 including the chance to bottle feed baby animals, meet fluffy chicks in their brand new hatchery, and take part in special Easter cookery sessions (places limited, weekdays only), crafts activities, egg hunt.

WIN! AN EIGHT

THE POPULARITY of cruising from Tilbury has grown so much that Cruise and Maritime Voyages (CMV) has teamed up with the Yellow Advertiser to offer readers a chance to win a fantastic eight night cruise for two to the Norwegian Fjords.

The company's flagship, Marco Polo, has become a familiar sight at Tilbury's London Cruise Terminal and is often seen off Southend's coast heading to places such as the Norwegian Fjords, St. Petersburg in Russia and even the Amazon in South America.

The traditional cruise ship will be making 25 departures this year from Tilbury and another 30 departures next year, which offers great convenience for people across Essex thanks to its short drive, good parking facilities and swift embarkation.

Mike Hall, head of marketing from CMV's head office in nearby Purfleet, said: "Our customer feedback questionnaires give the thumbs up to Tilbury. Many passengers say they arrive at the almost tranquil port compared to say Southampton, and find themselves in their cabin with their luggage within 30 minutes."

While 75 per cent of this year's cruises have already been sold there is still some availability on a variety of destinations and dates including:

■ The Norwegian Fjords in the Springtime: A spectacular way of seeing mountains, glaciers, waterfalls and the awesome fjords in April and May, with prices starting from £399pp for a six night cruise departing on April 16, 2013.

■ Cruises to the Baltic Cities and St. Petersburg: For cruises with a longer duration of 12 nights there are departures in May, August, September and October to the Baltic Cities and St Petersburg from £849pp.

■ A Christmas Cruise to the Canaries: A 14 night festive cruise to the Canaries is also available at £1,099pp, for those who want to celebrate in style.

■ CMV Mini Cruises: Starting from just £119pp and including the chance to explore the ship and enjoy an aperitif in one of its bars, a delicious five-course dinner in the elegant restaurant, a fabulous big show and evening entertainment including classical interludes and a disco, and a hearty breakfast the next morning before disembarking for the coach transfer service.

Marco Polo, with her traditional profile, beautiful teak decks and distinctive dark blue hull, is a truly classic ocean liner that can accommodate up to 800 guests. THEN AND NOW: The Monico restaurant

Be entertained at the Monico

THE Monico has a great line up of various artists performing every Saturday night thanks to its Love Canvey Soul evenings.

As entry is totally free of charge, and the entertainment is good, with the company even better, the evenings are a great way to enjoy a night out with friends.

Up-and-coming evenings included entertainment from the Blues Brothers on March 30; Georgie B and the best of soul on April 6; soul machine JD on April 12; Mick and Ode with their St George's Day Tribute on April 19; and Eloise and Kat with their tribute to back to the ages on April 26.

For further information on the weekly line-up at Bar Monico check out its facebook site - lovecanveysoul.

What's more, starting on Saturday, May 11, is The Monico's Karaoke Challenge, with a £500 cash prize up for grabs for the winner. The challenge, which also includes weekly heats with prizes of £100, will be held in the Haute Monico.

Youngsters can also join in the fun thanks to its Junior Karaoke Challenge competition, which starts on Sunday, May 12. The junior challenge offers the chance to pick up £50 in cash prizes during the weekly heats, before the finals are held with the chance of winning £250.

As the audience during both challenges are the judges then don't forget to make sure you take along all your friends and family for support.

So, if you have a burning ambition to entertain then call The Monico on 01268 683026 for an application form to take part in the Karaoke Challenge or the Junior Karaoke Challenges, which are both free to enter.

Also, look out for SS8, a new bar that will be opening soon.

The Monico, which was built in 1938, and has been a huge part of Canvey Island seaford over the years, also has fantastic function rooms for hire.

Suzanne Gray, whose family have owned The Monico since 1996, said: "More and more people are coming to The Monico for their christenings, weddings, funeral etc, as they get a more personal service that is good value-for-money."

"Over the years people have found they can rely on us looking after their special events from start to finish, and we look forward to many more years to come helping people put their special touches on their events and celebrations."

For further information about The Monico, at 1-3 Eastern Esplanade, Canvey Island, call 01268 683026 ext 1.

Raise charity cash with the help of Wheeler's Tandoori

IF YOU want to do something for charity then why not let Wheeler's Tandoori help you raise the much needed cash.

The popular restaurant, which boasts delicious cuisine in intimate surroundings, is the ideal place to hold a range of fundraising events thanks to its special Charity Buffets.

The buffet, which cost just £6 per person, allows you the chance to enjoy an evening out while also raising money for a good cause as a percentage of the bill will be donated to a charity of your choice. As fundraising has never been so easy, why not call the restaurant for further information and start making a difference to a charity close to your heart.

Wheeler's Tandoori is also the ideal place for a range of occasions, from a romantic meal to a family celebration, thanks to its welcoming atmosphere and its mouth watering menu. Its food – described as fantastic in a recent taste test – offers the perfect opportunity to try authentic Indian cuisine.

The restaurant, which has proved popular since opening its doors in 2009 having previously been a successful Indian takeaway for 15 years, has an extensive a la carte menu offering a wide choice of dishes that are all individually cooked to order by a team of expert Indian chefs.

Wheeler's experienced owner wanted to create a restaurant that gave diners the chance to enjoy a traditional experience, and with the help of restaurant manager, Milad, who has more than 20 years experience in preparing and serving mouth-watering Indian cuisines, they have created an establishment that is exactly how an Indian restaurant should be – complete with magnificent décor and intimate booths with candlelit tables.

Alongside its a la carte menu the restaurant also offers a range of deals including its Sunday Buffet, which is a great way to taste new dishes and fantastic value-for-money for families. The buffet, which includes a selection of 25 delicious dishes, is served from 1pm to late and costs just £6.95 per person, or £3.95 for children under the age of 12.

The restaurant, which has a well stocked bar, full disabled facilities and a large private car park, also offers a takeaway service with free home delivery, also welcomes taste card members.

Wheeler's Tandoori Restaurant, at 458 London Road, on Bread and Cheese Hill, Benfleet, is open from noon to 2pm and from 5pm to 11.30pm, from Monday to Thursday, and is open until midnight on Fridays and at weekends.

For further information or to make a reservation, call 01268 757868 or visit www.wheelerstandoori.co.uk or find them on Facebook.

Jack and the Beanstalk turns digital

By Damon Smith

THE English folktale of Jack And The Beanstalk is given a smart CGI-heavy makeover in Bryan Singer's fast-paced fantasy.

Based on a script co-written by Usual Suspects scribe Christopher McQuarrie, Jack The Giant Slayer takes the familiar story of magic beans and a blood-thirty behemoth as the foundations for a delightfully old-fashioned tale of derring-do replete with a boo-hiss villain and swooning damsel in distress.

A storybook opening sequence recounts the legend of King Erik, who defeated the giants and banished them to their kingdom in the clouds with the help of his magical crown.

Many centuries later, farm boy Jack (Nicholas Hoult) heads into town to sell his horse and cart.

He encounters a monk (Simon Lowe) bearing a pouch of stolen beans.

"Those beans have the power to change the world. Don't lose them and whatever you do, don't get them wet!" the holy man instructs Jack.

That night, a sudden deluge of rain causes one of the seeds to take root and a beanstalk rises terrifyingly into the sky, tak-

FILM FACTS

Jack the Giant Slayer (12A, 114 mins)
Action/Fantasy/Romance.

Starring: Nicholas Hoult, Eleanor Tomlinson, Stanley Tucci, Ian McShane, Ewan McGregor, Eddie Marsan, Ewen Bremner, Simon Lowe and the voices of Bill Nighy, John Kassir.

Director: Bryan Singer.

ing with it Jack's home and Princess Isabelle (Eleanor Tomlinson), who happened to be passing in the downpour.

When King Brahmwell (Ian McShane) learns of his daughter's fate, he organises a search party including valiant knight Elmont (Ewan McGregor), his right-hand man Crawe (Eddie Marsan), Isabelle's con-niving fiancé Roderick (Stanley Tucci), sniv-elling sidekick Wicke (Ewen Bremner) and Jack.

Atop the beanstalk, they discover an army of gargantuan warriors led by two-headed General Fallon (Bill Nighy, John Kassir) and his lieutenants, Fee, Fye, Foe and Fumm.

Invasion looms large...

Jack The Giant Slayer establishes a cracking pace and there are few pauses between the breathlessly orchestrated set pieces, including a first encounter with the giants viewed through Jack's eyes as he holds his breath underwater.

Digital effects meld smoothly with live action, including a protracted sequence of the giants storming King Brahmwell's castle.

Hoult is an endearing hero, plagued by a fear of heights, who comes to the fore in Isabelle's hour of need.

Their romance is sweet, tempered by Tucci's delightful scenery-chewing as the Machiavellian traitor in the royal court.

Parents may want to view the film before unleashing very young children into this fairytale realm because the violence is quite strong for a 12A certificate, including at least one member of supporting cast losing his head between a giant's festering teeth.

Bloodshed isn't gratuitous and Singer keeps most of the dismemberment off screen or blurred in the background.

There are casualties in every war and when mankind engages the giants in titanic battle, the body count on both sides is high.

Solicitors and Solicitors

The system of property transfer in this country is relatively archaic when compared to those of most other countries. The variety of age and tenure of UK property forms a complex framework on which sit further complications such as easements, rights of way, restrictive covenants, planning restrictions, building consents, possessory titles and disputed boundaries.

Despite some streamlining to the conveyancing process over recent years there is no doubt that there will always be a need for an efficient and effective solicitor or conveyancer to handle the considerable legal work before, during and after exchange of contracts.

But, just like estate agents, there are good solicitors and there are not-so-good ones. They all do the job of getting you moved, but some are more fastidious than others. This can be to your advantage, or it can be a problem. A really thorough solicitor will scrutinise every clause in every document and alert you to things a slap-dash solicitor might have missed. For example, you could find yourself liable to pay for the upkeep of a road that was assumed to be public highway, but turned out to be private!

However, a particularly thorough solicitor, or an overworked, understaffed one, can also sometimes be the slowest. Where there is a competing buyer hot on your heels, speed can be absolutely critical. Slow conveyancing is one of the biggest causes of sales falling through, because it provides a greater window of opportunity for someone to pull out of a sale for a variety of reasons.

So when considering which solicitor to use, just like estate agents, don't simply judge them on the fee they charge, but seek a recommendation from someone who has moved recently – it could save your sale or purchase.

ASK THE AGENT ALAN KIRKMAN

ALAN KIRKMAN is Director of Essex TEAM - part of the UK's largest branded network of independent estate agents, with 50 computer-linked offices across the county and 500 more nationwide. Managing Director of Tudor Estates in Southend, Alan has been an Estate Agent for over 25 years.

Q. I'm thinking of buying some land with a view to building on it. Do you have any general advice?

A. The best piece of advice I can give you is simply this: think very carefully about what you're considering taking on!

Of course, for many people, building their own property is the ultimate dream, and can be uniquely satisfying. It can even be relatively cost-effective. Nevertheless, the potential headaches and pitfalls are almost too numerous to mention. We've all seen those TV programmes!

Obviously, you can employ an architect and project manager to handle the whole thing on your behalf, but this can be pretty expensive. Alternatively, you may like to make enquiries locally to see if there are any other people who might be interested in forming a self-build group. At least this will mean you're not tackling things all on your own - which is the only other choice. In fact, this is not necessarily a problem, but dealing with planning and building control departments, builders, suppliers, public utilities and all the rest can all too easily turn into a real-life nightmare.

But be that as it may...if you really are one of those relatively rare people who thrive on this sort of challenge, then obviously your first step is to track down a suitable piece of land. That in itself is no easy task. After all, we live in a fairly small, crowded island. Obviously, if you're not particularly fussed where you live, then this will be less of a problem. But that's not true for most of us.

Some estate agents - although by no means all - do deal in land. Alternatively, there are a number of websites these days that specialise in this area. Nevertheless, you need to bear in mind that buying land without planning permission can be a huge gamble - while conversely, land which already has planning permission is obviously going to be a lot more expensive.

Believe me, I'm not trying to put you off. After all, it's only a year or so ago that the Housing Minister himself was singing the praises of self-build, and launching a new initiative to encourage it. But then again, precious little has been heard of that initiative since - and of course, we now have a different Housing Minister...

Landlord Question

I rent a flat out in Southend. It's a decent flat, in a good block, and I've rarely had any problems over the past 6 years. I've found a great new tenant and he's passed the referencing process and has a good job and income. He's a professional guy working in the city and I didn't expect him to be any bother. However, he has asked that the locks be changed before he moves in because he is concerned that previous tenants may still have a set of keys and this may affect his security. I don't really think this is necessary. Should I agree to his demands?

Think Property Answer

One thing we've noticed in recent years is that tenants have become increasingly interested in the security of a property they want to rent. We reckon that's because, generally, people have more nickable things these days.

Laptops, plasma televisions, DVD players, decent bikes, iPods and smartphones and the like. It's also typically something that affects tenants in higher end properties.

So, you have two questions to ask. What's it going to cost you? And is it a dealbreaker for the tenant? Depending on the locks you have in place, the costs will vary. But we'd say it's in the region of £50.00 - £100.00 for two sets. Probably less.

His fear isn't unreasonable. If you've been renting the place out for six years, there could be a set of keys out there or a past tenant may have had a set copied. It may feel unlikely, even implausible, but it's a possible risk.

You might also want to contact your local police. If you do decide to have the locks changed, it's worth having a security audit undertaken by the local cops. They are usually happy to help and will come up with some bright ideas you might want to take on board. Their advice is free, even if the security improvements won't be. But they will likely be inexpensive and include changing the locks.

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified line and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

Drivetime

Ford's big ambitions with grown-up Kuga

By Jonathan Crouch

THE Ford Kuga is back, bigger and better than ever before. There's still no seven seat option but with an extra 81mm of length and an additional 71 litres of carrying capacity, it's a far more practical proposition than before and just as good to drive. Especially in 1.6-litre EcoBoost petrol form.

The few Kuga customers who decide against the couple of 2.0-litre TDCi diesel on offer get to choose from two 1.6-litre turbocharged Ecoboost petrol units rated at either 150 or 180PS, both managing the same torque figure of 240Nm. The entry-level petrol model is available in front-wheel drive guise with a manual gearbox, but the 177bhp version is sold exclusively as an all-wheel drive chassis with the Powershift automatic gearbox.

All Kuga models get a quick and well-weighted electrically assisted steering system, although the strong self-centring action takes a little getting used to. Although Ford's engineers deny it, the chassis of this model feels softer than the first generation car, so the ride is better, but there's not that same puppyish attitude as before. Call it part of the growing-up process. The four-wheel drive system lends the Kuga a modicum of off-road ability but it comes into its own on road when pedalling the car quite hard.

The styling of the latest Kuga utilises an evolutionary look. Even if you'd never seen one before, the shape of the windows, the headlights and the rising belt line is all quite similar to its predecessor, which is no bad thing as that car was always one of the best-looking models in its class. As before, it's based on Focus underpinnings, but this one has a much larger task ahead of it.

The extra 81mm of length and some cleverer packaging solutions mean that this Kuga is properly spacious for four or five passengers, although the lack of occasional sixth and seventh seats may see it stripped from some lists. There's decent headroom all round, rear legroom is good too; certainly better than you'd get in a five-door Focus. The new car's additional length is largely accounted for by luggage space. The old car had 410-litres of space available but even with the rear seats in their fully reclined position, there's 438-litres in the latest car. Put the seats to a more upright position and you get up to 481-litres.

As you might expect, petrol power is the cheapest way into Kuga ownership. The entry-level 150PS unit mated with 2WD costs around £21,000 - about £1,500 less than the comparable diesel. Petrol buyers do get the option of AWD and auto transmission, but it only comes packaged up with the pokier 180PS version of the EcoBoost engine at a £2,700 premium that many of them won't want to pay.

Kuga's all-turbocharged engine line-up now manages to return efficiency running cost figures far better than those of rivals like Honda's CR-V, Land Rover's Freelander or Vauxhall's Antara, thanks to petrol engine fuel economy gains of up to 25 per cent and diesel engine fuel economy improvements of up to 10 per cent.

The difference between these two figures is mainly down to the fact that at the launch of this second generation Kuga, it was only the petrol engines that benefitted from an Auto-Start-Stop system able to automatically cut the engine when it's not needed, say when stuck in traffic or waiting at the lights. As a result, the 150PS 1.6-litre petrol unit with front-wheel drive achieves 42.8mpg on the combined cycle and 139g/km CO2. These figures fall to 36.7mpg and 179g/km if you go for this petrol engine in 180PS form mated to AWD and automatic transmission.

The Ford Kuga does enough to appeal right now. It's good-looking, spacious, well-priced and drives well. It's a little different in its emphasis than before, feeling a bit more grown-up than its predecessor and riding a whole lot better. The thing is, perhaps Ford's continuity with this vehicle has been taken a little too far. Is it the big bold step that Land Rover achieved with its Evoque? Maybe not. Ford will point to the fact that the Kuga is much cheaper and they'd have a point, but the inevitable result of trying to build one vehicle for many markets is that the extremity of design inevitably gets watered down.

So while it's not quite as exciting as some may have hoped for, there can be little doubt that the latest Kuga is a better vehicle than its successful predecessor. The 1.6-litre EcoBoost petrol engine will make sense for lower mileage buyers and value-wise, it slots into a price point that offers clear air between the best of the Koreans and competitors like the Audi Q3 and the Range Rover Evoque. In other words, it looks like reprising the old car's success all over again.

Cold comfort

By Jonathan Crouch

IT'S the same every winter. Cars in ditches. Calls for more gritting. Queues at pathetic speeds on the snow. Another year. Another generation of motorists inadequately prepared for the season.

How do we cope? By all going out and buying SUVs and 4x4s? Not necessarily. Even if we could all afford to do that, it wouldn't necessarily solve the problem. There are, after all, plenty of circumstances where an ordinary Ford Fiesta will cruise easily up an icy slope that would defeat a Land Rover Discovery - if the Ford was on the right tyres.

There's a bewildering choice of winter rubber on the market. Where to start? Perhaps with the state-of-the-art. Dunlop's latest WinterSport 4D tyre is a high performance design that sits above the more family-orientated SP Winter Response tyre in the company's range. It claims to move the market for winter tyres to a new dimension - so I flew to arctic Sweden to try it.

The reasons why are to be found in the unique technology of this new rubber and its clever '4D sipe' system. A 'sipe', you'd be forgiven for not knowing, is an ultra-thin groove made in the tyre's tread that enhances both traction and grip. The 3D sipes on Dunlop's previous WinterSport design were already enough to win it a whole clutch of awards and adding the fourth '4D' transversal sipe that gives this tyre its name makes all the difference - more contact with the road and greater lateral performance and grip.

Putting this tyre to the test back-to-back with competitors on the frozen lake that Dunlop had laid on near the central Swedish town of Are would, I was confident, properly test the technology and give me a greater insight into the real benefits of winter rubber.

Both front and rear-driven cars, Audi A3s and BMW 3 Series models, had been provided for the purpose, with the Audis first up on a frozen ice oval track. Our first test pitted cars with the new 4D against others using Dunlop Winter tyre technology two decades old, our hosts wanting to underline just how far this market has come in the last twenty years. The point was well made, the Audis shod with more modern rubber turning in quicker and sliding much less than their counterparts.

But next was the crucial test: a fleet of rear-driven BMW 3 Series saloons fitted with WinterSport 4Ds, the others featuring the best alternative winter tyres that competitors Michelin and Pirelli could offer. First I tried a car with Pirellis which slid and oversteered luridly. The Michelin-shod 318d I tried next was better but the car fitted with the Dunlops comprehensively out-pointed it. Turn-in was sharper, lateral grip was more reassuring and even when the car broke away from you, it was easier to bring it back into line.

These conditions are exactly what the majority of British motorists attempt to use summer tyres in several times every winter, putting themselves, their loved ones and other road users at risk. It's about time we all thought a bit more carefully about it - for safety's sake.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
 That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
 A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Description Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed to be offering goods or services as part of their business. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisements must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'VAT' etc. in the advertisement.
3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reason the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect advertisement. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified (image and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belongs to the Publishers. Advertisers must not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement. i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Trade Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Final bow for sacked Sturrock as Brown is made Blues boss

Southend United

PHIL Brown has been appointed manager by Southend United following the sacking of Paul Sturrock over the weekend.

The 53-year-old, who has been in charge of Derby County, Hull City and Preston North End, has signed a deal that will keep him at Roots Hall until the end of the 2014/15 season.

He will take charge of Southend's next two league games against Bradford City on Friday and Fleetwood Town on Monday, before Sturrock returns to take charge of the Shrimpers' Johnstone's Paint Trophy final clash against Crewe Alexandra on April 7.

Sturrock took over the Shrimpers following their relegation from League One in 2010, and went close to leading them back there the following season but lost in the play-offs to Crewe.

Blues lie two places outside the League Two play-off places, but have only taken just five points from the last available 18.

Their poor form at Roots Hall has also affected their promotion push in recent months, with only two wins in their last nine league games there.

Brown said: "I'm delighted to have been given the opportunity here at Southend and it's a challenge I'm really looking forward to."

"We've got seven league games between now and the end of the season, hopefully we can put a winning run together and give ourselves a chance of reaching the play-offs."

"We've got a few days of training between now and the game against Bradford that will give me a chance to look at the players."

Blues chairman Ron Martin released a statement on the club's website over the weekend explaining that Sturrock, whose contract was due to run out at the end of the season, would be leaving the club with immediate effect.

Martin explained promotion for the club 'has always been the first priority', but also personal sentiment had led him to ask Sturrock to lead the team out at Wembley.

Martin said: "They say 'there is no sentiment in football'. I do not agree, we are all human and have to understand the emotions influenced by our decisions.

"The decisions here are driven by the wider interests of Southend United, its success and growth whilst remaining conscious of what is fair and just. These may not be sentiments common to football but it is the way I want this club to be run."

"I have suggested to Paul he leads the team out and manages them at Wembley. He has earned that privilege and agreed."

Martin added: "We came up short last season in the play-offs and the recent results against relatively low league teams such as Accrington Stanley, Barnet, Wimbledon, Plymouth and Torquay, have not been good enough."

"Promotion has always been the first priority and the manager has always known that."

Southend will travel to Bradford on Good Friday, kick-off at 3pm, and host Fleetwood on Monday, kick-off at 1pm.

Hammers secure Olympic Stadium

West Ham United

WEST Ham United have been confirmed as the Olympic Stadium's long-term anchor tenants from 2016/17.

The Mayor of London and chair of the London Legacy Development Corporation (LLDC), Boris Johnson, and Newham Mayor, Sir Robin Wales made the announcement last Friday.

The Hammers, who will have a 99-year lease, will move into the stadium in summer 2016, after it is transformed into a UEFA Category 4 venue with 54,000 seats.

Transformation works will include a new roof, corporate areas, toilets, concessions and retractable seating.

West Ham will contribute £15million, Newham Council will invest £40million and the Government has agreed to provide additional support of up to £25million should it be required once the tenders are returned.

In a statement, joint chairmen, David Sullivan and David Gold, said: "It's fantastic for everyone at West Ham United that at last all the club's hard work over the past three years has paid off. Since we came to West Ham in 2010 we have had a vision to really take the club forward so West Ham United can compete on the pitch at the highest level.

"Today's decision offers us a real platform to do this and we are fully committed to making it a real success. We understand the responsibilities that come with calling the nation's iconic Olympic Stadium, which will be converted into a world-class football stadium, our new home. It is an honour we will take on with pride."

Leyton Orient chairman Barry Hearn issued proceedings in the High Court against the LLDC earlier this month for a judicial review in relation to the Olympic Stadium.

The claim relates to the bidding process, in which Orient believe they should have been 'teamed', meaning they should have been considered for a joint tenancy with the Irons.

At the time Hearn said: "I was concerned that this was a done deal for West Ham before the bidding began, but the fact that both clubs had to commit to teaming made me believe that we were getting involved in a fair process. However, the LLDC have not stuck by their own rules and have left Orient with no option but to challenge their decision in the Courts."

Southend ease relegation fears with gritty win

Non League Football

A WET and muddy pitch bought the best out of Southend on a cold and bracing afternoon at Warners Bridge as they beat Canterbury 19-11 to lift themselves clear of the relegation zone.

With all but two games in National Two South postponed, Southend were able to play one of their games in hand and apply pressure to teams at the end of the league and they were tremendous.

After early kicks from Robert Kirby, Chris Vaughan touched down for 10-3 after good play from Bradley Burr, with Kirby kicking the extras, and followed that up with a penalty for 16-3.

Southend were handling the conditions better than Canterbury with everyone playing his part and it was not long before they forced another penalty. Kirby found the target again for 16-3.

Browne narrowed the deficit to 16-6. A change into dry shirts for the second half did nothing to change the flow of the game with Southend continuing to dominate. Kirby added another penalty just after the restart to make it 19-6 with Southend determined to play most of their rugby in Canterbury's half of the field.

Eventually Canterbury did force their way upfield and managed to get the ball over the Southend try line but Browne missed the difficult conversion and the score moved on to 19-11 where it remained till the final whistle. A fine display by the gallant Southend troops took them up to 41 points for the season so far and up to 10th in the table.

Elsewhere in National Three London & South East, Thurrock lost 16-27 to Barnes.

Chingford lost 73-0 at London One North leaders Bury St Edmunds, while Brentwood went down 33-5 at Ruislip and a home win was awarded to Colchester over Basildon.

In London Three North East, Upminster thrashed bottom side East London 84-5.

Essex One: Bancroft 26-5 Upper Clapton, Maldon 19-7 Burnham, Millwall 9-24 Old Cooperians

Essex Two: Kings Cross Steelers 13-17 Phantoms, Thames 26-5 Stamford Le Hope, Writtle Wanderers 41-0 Brightlingsea

Final 4 spot for Fire youths

MOUNTUNE'S Brentwood Fire Under 15s have secured a place in the Final 4's after defeating Leicester Dynamite in the National League quarter-final on Saturday.

Dynamite pressured Fire from the off and raced out to a 16-6 lead as they continued to attack the basket, however after a quick time out Fire managed to close the gap and the first quarter finished 17-18 in Dynamite's favour.

No team could pull away in the second quarter and it was tied 38-38 at the half.

After a tough third quarter the score was still tied and the teams were even heading into the fourth.

Fire's defence made a huge improvement in the remaining quarter, constantly pressuring Dynamites and holding them to just nine points, resulting in a final score of 64-61. Top scorers were Josh Stannard (23), Patrick King (9), and Adeola Oduka (7).

The team will now proceed to the Under 15s National League Final 4's.

Coach James Potter said: "I'm extremely proud of the team this season. They have worked together and produced some outstanding results. The team should be very proud to have secured their place in the Final 4's."

■ The Bluefin Brentwood Fire men had a great finish to their season. They traveled to East London University to play the second place Nassa.

The first period saw both teams taking leads throughout; the score was 23-27 at the end of the first quarter with the advantage going towards Brentwood. Fire had a strong second quarter clamping down on defense and pushing the lead to 53-38 at half-time.

The third quarter proved to be a defensive battle seeing only 16 Nassa points and 17 for the Fire. In the fourth quarter the Fire continued to impose their will never letting Nassa get within 13 points, with the final score of 96-76 in Fire's favour.

Andrew Stimson led Fire with 31 points, 10 rebounds, nine steals and six assists. Adam Ball contributed with 19 points and nine rebounds while James Fenimore scored 15 points, connecting on five three pointers.

Concord win

CONCORD Rangers maintained their title bid in Ryman Premier with a 3-0 victory at home to Enfield Town on Saturday.

Steve King headed in a cross from Ben Greenhalgh to give the Beachboys the lead eight minutes before the interval.

The same pair combined again to double Concord's lead on 80 minutes while Jason Hallett added a third in the 90th minute.

Concord are nine points behind leaders Whitehawk with three games in hand.

Canvey Island were held to a 2-2 draw with fellow play-off chasers Margate.

Rob King and Bradley Woods-Garness put Gulls 2-0 up inside the first seven minutes.

Matt Bodkin reduced the arrears midway through the half and Jamie Hand levelled with a penalty in the second minute of second half stoppage time. There was still time for King to see his penalty saved by Craig Holway.

In Ryman North, Grays drew level on points with Maldon & Tiptree with a 2-1 win over Soham.

Neil Andrews fired Soham ahead after 18 minutes but Grays registered their tenth win in a row thanks to Joe Sweeney and Jack West.

BOROUGH COUNCIL

Your blue bin needs you!

Start recycling your food waste today

The food waste recycling service is easy and simple to use and is a great way to recycle leftovers or out of date food. In 2012, Southend-on-Sea residents recycled over 3,000 tonnes of food waste. To help residents recycle even more food waste, deliveries of a brand new blue food waste collection bin and kitchen caddy, compostable food waste liners and an information leaflet about how to use the blue bin will be taking place during March and April.

So you will be just 4 easy steps away from recycling your food waste each week!

- Step 1 Line your kitchen caddy with a compostable food waste liner and fill it with food waste.
- Step 2 When full, tie up the compostable liner and put it in your blue collection bin.
- Step 3 Lock your blue collection bin and keep it out of direct sunlight.
- Present your blue collection bin weekly on your collection day.
- Step 4 If you run out of compostable liners, place your hanger on the handle of your blue collection bin and a new roll will be delivered to you.
- Additional hangers can be collected from a number of outlets (from the 1st July 2013).

Residents will start to receive regular deliveries of compostable food waste liners later in the year, but can request additional liners as and when required, by using the hanger (please note this service will commence 1st July 2013).

Getting the best out of your blue bin

Keep your blue bin out of direct sunlight and locked by moving the handle forward – locking your bin will help to make your food waste less accessible to animals and help to keep our environment clean and tidy.

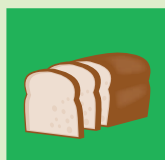

Top tip: If you haven't done so already, why not add your house number to the lid, to help prevent your bin from getting lost?
